

what's happening to BEES?

Meeting on Bees & the environment

Bee populations are in severe decline all over the world, but beekeepers and scientists are unsure what is causing these losses.

This matters because bees pollinate a third of the food we eat, so without them there would be no apples, onions or even tea!

We have Maggie Harrowell from Dover Beekeepers to talk to us.

Maggie has years of experience as a beekeeper and will be bringing some of her Bees, honey to taste and bee related products to try & buy.
